

How can we isolate processes and kernel memory spaces?

➡ The Virtual Memory (coming soon)

In a nutshell

- User programs do not directly access the memory but the virtual memory (that is somehow mapped onto the real memory)
- The kernel manages the virtual memory for all processes

System Calls